Personal Profile

I am a software developer with over 12 years of experience, specializing in ASP.NET, C#, VB.NET and Python, along with other technologies. I hold a Master's in Information Systems from NTU, Singapore, and am pursuing a Master's in Artificial Intelligence at Victoria University of Wellington, expected to finish in October 2025. I have successfully delivered many projects and overcome challenging issues, even under tight schedules. I am eager to apply my skills and flexibility to create high-quality solutions in a software development role.
